BPF Pipes Group members account for a UK workforce of around 6300 and a joint annual turnover of almost £9 billion. Together they install around 288,000 km of pipes every year, 198,000 km of which is above ground (for example for plumbing and underfloor heating) and 90,000 km of which is below ground (for water, wastewater and gas pipes).

Naylor Plastics Managing Director is Richard Edwards, and he commented: "We are delighted to be joining this influential group within the industry; it works hard to encourage best practice in all areas of pipework. As a company we are expanding in both volume and product range and are looking forward to enhancing our growth and participating in future product standards for the benefit of the industry."
